Citizens Purchase $1299 in Stamps During July

Credit Due to Miss Canadas and Supervisors Mrs. L. S. Richards, and Mrs. J. Spievak; Quota was $360

It was with keen satisfaction that campaign supervisor Mrs. L. S. Richards released official figures on Coleman's July "Stamp Out the U-Boat" campaign on Monday morning. Sales totalled $1299 against a quota of $360. A depth charge costs $90 and as a result Coleman's contribution to H.M.C.S. Blaimore will be a little better than 14 depth charges.

Of the $1299 in sales there were only two fairly large purchases. The balance was made up of purchases from 25c to $4.00. The Miss Canadas were on each pay-day and their sales were heavy. Again at the carnival the Elks graciously gave the Miss Canadas a booth and over $100 in stamps were sold.

Something new was added to the sales appeal of stamps when Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Spievak made tags. The tags consisted of a 25c stamp wrapped in cellophane paper with a red ribbon attached. This tag was pinned to the purchaser's lapel. Tag sales were also heavy both pay-days.

Credit is due the Miss Canadas who worked so hard to make the campaign a success. They included Corinne Fraser, Frances Dibblee, Mary Hopkins, Louise Aboussafy, Yvonne Mataya, Christine Bubniak, Audrey Grant and Betty H'iary.

The merchants also contributed to the success of the campaign by selling stamps in the stores. While their sales failed to match the sales of the Miss Canadas their efforts are much appreciated by the local War Finance committee. The committee also thanks the Elks for their co-operation.

The large cards bearing the stamp-grams which bear the names of the individual purchasers will now be sent to Ottawa and from that point will be distributed to the various ships whose name appears on the card. In the case of the Pass towns H.M.C.S. Blaimore will receive the cards. Here the cards will be attached to the various depth charges carried by the ship and when a U-Boat attacked the cards will be carried down into the water and smashed against the sides of the U-Boat when the depth charge explodes.

Polish Society Hold Service For Late Premier

Held Sunday, July 25 Speakers and Artists on Program

A memorial service in memory of the late Polish premier, W. E. Sikorski, killed July 5 in a plane accident at Gibraltar, was held in Coleman Polish hall on Sunday, July 25. Arrangements for the service were supervised by Walter Chackla and Mike Opulski. Approximately 100 Polish citizens were present. Mr. Chackla was chairman.

Speakers were Chairman Chackla, Joe Krzyka and Louis Kallivoda. Tribute was paid to the late premier's work as head of Poland and his plans for Poland's future. Mr. Kallivoda, who is a native of Czechoslovakia, paid tribute to the late premier on behalf of his countrymen who had high respect for his ability as head of a neighboring country.

Artists on the program were Miss Wanda Kwasnie who played the piano and acted as song leader, Polish children who sang and recited: Clara Churekka, recitation; Annie Suplat, recitation; Joe Krzyka Jr., recitation; Sophie Simla, song; Adel and Sophie Gaska, of Canal Flats B.C., song; A. Biegun, song; and John Zaluski, of Bellevue, recitation. Mr. James Lowe, bandmaster was present and played the "Last Post" on his trumpet.

J. Anderson's Pigeon Wins Race From Smythe, Alberta

100 Mile Race for Yearlings; Wins Bill Bell Memorial Cup.

John Anderson's pigeon won the 400 mile race for yearlings from Smythe, Alberta, on July 1. There were approximately 25 birds in competition.

The winner received the Bill Bell Memorial Cup, which he will retain for one year. Others taking part in the race were Charles Makin and Mr. Nimmett.

On July 15 the Bellevue and Coleman clubs flew their old birds from Waterways, Alberta, a distance of 500 miles, for the Dr. Lillie cup. The first bird was clocked in by a Bellevue fancier at 12:30 the following day, and at 4:55 p.m. that same day J. Anderson clocked in his bird to win the Coleman prize of $10.

Council And Province Go 50-50 In Maintenance of No. 3 Highway Through Town

Water Again Contaminated; Must Have Permit for Improvements; Grass Not Garbage

Regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening. Present Mayor Antrobus, Councilors Aboussafy, Cox, Dutil, Jenkins and Ramsay.

Mr. A. Phillips sr. was present and told council he was financially unable to pay his taxes. Council adopted measures taken in past years and taxes will be charged against the property.

Frank Horatio was present and asked council what steps had been taken for the custody of the two Andreasak girls. Mayor Antrobus informed council that he, along with an officer of the Child's Welfare Department, had visited the Horatio home and that the provincial officer had informed him that a report would be sent council from Edmonton regarding this case. No word has yet been received and secretary was authorized to write the department asking for a report.

Frank Graham, representing St. Alban's vestry, was present to ask council to repair the steps leading past the Anglican church up to Fifth street. Following some discussion on this subject later in the meeting it was decided to build new steps and railings and make a more or less permanent job of it as the pedestrian traffic over this road is fairly heavy.

There were eighteen appeals against the 1943 assessment. Many were successful.

The town tenant in the Lycka home has moved out and Mr. Lycka has moved in. Council will employ every means to keep Lycka paying a regular monthly sum to the town and so help reduce the debt owing by him.

Two weeks' vacation was granted Constable Antle. Efforts will be made to have a member of the Blaimore detachment, R.C.M.P., stationed in Coleman during Mr. Antle's absence.

The town foreman was authorized to repair the roof of the town hall. The culvert nearby Excel Builders will be repaired and a shale shoulder placed alongside the hard surfaced highway in west Coleman.

Once again the local drinking water is found to be contaminated and provincial health authorities advise boiling all water before drinking it.

Agreement has been reached between the Provincial Highway department and council that the former take care of the No. 3 highway through town and each pay 50% of the repairing costs. Council will again press the Provincial Public Works department to reimburse it for 50% of the cost of laying the hard surfaced street through town which is also part of the No. 3 highway.

A letter will be sent Minister of Public Works, W. A. Fallow refreshing his mind re: flood control work in Coleman.

An invoice amounting to $107 against the Coleman Crystal arena was received by council. It was a legitimate charge against the arena and much was said in its favor. After much discussion pro and con the argument that several business houses had been heavy losers through the years because of the arena and hockey teams and that these debts had been written off as bad debts seem to be the dominant one which finally caused the payment of the $107 debt to be turned down.

William Gardiner, former Coleman resident, again appears to be in need of relief. Council is in receipt of copies of correspondence passing between Edmonton and Victoria. Correspondence was filed and council will await developments.

A letter was received from Joe Lombardi asking permission to tear down some outhouses in his yard and build a new coal chute. Constable Antle will investigate.

Following the reading of Mr. Lombardi's letter discussion took place regarding the new buildings and improvements which have been taken place in town for the past several years without permits having been issued from the town office. It was decided that in order that the council may have a record of all improvements it would be compulsory for persons desiring to build or make improvements to property to first receive a permit from the town office. Only when the improvements exceed $100 will a charge be made for the permit. It is quite probable that in the near future a committee will be set up to give assent or veto to proposed plans for new buildings or improvements.

Joseph Futjo and family having resided in Coleman decided to move to Edmonton. While here they were not relief recipients. However at the capital city they evidently were in need of help and the city gave him $15 to pay his fare to Lethbridge where he, and it is thought his family are at present. Edmonton has written the provincial relief authorities asking them to collect the $15 on the town. Council takes the view that it was not relief, Edmonton gave Futjo but a loan in order that he may travel to Lethbridge. The provincial authorities will be advised to contact Futjo and ask him to pay back the $15 loan.

Two elderly ladies were recommended for the Old Age pension.

The provincial government is gathering data regarding setting up a pension and sick benefit fund for municipal employees. Secretary was authorized to furnish all information required by the province.

Grass is not garbage. This was agreed upon at the council meeting when some councillors brought up for discussion complaints they had received on this matter. The ashman need not take away grass unless he cares to or an extra fee is paid for its removal.

A controversy has been raging for the past several weeks between the ashman and residents residing in two shacks located on the same lot. The argument is that the occupant of one shack uses it to sleep in only and that meals are eaten in the second shack where there is a stove. Council took the view however that there will necessarily be a stove in the second shack in the winter and that there naturally will be ashes. It was unanimously agreed that each shack would have to pay the ash fee the year around.

The concrete in front of the Pattinson Hardware and The Friendly Store will be roughened in order that it will be less dangerous to pedestrian traffic during the winter.

The town assessor was in sympathy of reducing the assessment of the local halls due to their not getting sufficient revenue to carry on. The Community hall came up for discussion and after some debate it was unanimously agreed to waive the taxes on this building.

Assessments on the surgery and the house owned by the hospital board on Second street were confirmed.

GEORGE DAVIS INJURED IN SWIMMING ACCIDENT

George Davis, 19, was seriously injured in a swimming accident on Sunday, July 29. He dove into the water his head hitting a rock which resulted in a severe head injury. He was rushed to hospital where his condition is slowly improving.

Two Drown At Lee Lake In Canoe Accident

A double drowning fatality occurred at Lee Lake near Burnis on Sunday.

The dead: Steve Fargo, 43, of Bellevue; Steve Guriel, Jr., 6, of Bellevue.

Rescued were: Mrs. Steve Guriel, Bellevue; George Kovach, Bellevue.

Hero of the tragedy was a young Dookhobor lad from Lundbreck who refused to give his name other than to say he was a Russian boy. He swam more than 300 yards from shore to bring Mrs. Guriel to safety. After a struggle in the water the lad succeeded in knocking her out, bringing her to shore in an unconscious condition. George Kovach swam to shore.

According to Mrs. Guriel, who is a sister of Steve Fargo, the boat upset in the lake while the party was on a picnic, and the father and son drowned. She was struggling frantically in the water when the Russian lad arrived on the scene.

The body of the father was recovered, but dragging was still going on Monday morning for the body of the boy.

A son of Steve Fargo is serving with an Alberta unit in the army overseas.

The picnic party was composed mostly of Hungarians.

It is considered likely an inquest will be held.

Elks' Carnival Given Good Support

J. Derbyshire, Jr., and Mrs. Anne Zoratti Big Winners; Elks Highly Pleased With Results.

Coleman Elks are greatly pleased with the excellent support given their carnival by local and Pass citizens on July 17 and 18. The twenty booths were well patronized and everybody spent freely. The proceeds will be used towards promoting local and war charities.

The major prize winners were Jack Derbyshire, Jr., who on Saturday evening won the handsome axminster rug, and Mrs. Anne Zoratti, of Beaver Mines, who won the beautiful bedroom suite on Monday evening.

The local orchestra engaged for the jiney dance was well received by dance lovers and as a result a little profit was shown on the dance, something which rarely happens.

The carnival committee thanks all citizens who helped make the venture a success.

CADETS WELL TREATED AT MACLEOD AIR SCHOOL

Forty youths from the Coleman and Bellevue-Hillcrest air cadet unit returned home at the week and after ten glorious days at Macleod air school, where they received further training and the hospitality of the officers and men. Accompanying the cadets were Fl Harold Houghton, F.O. P. Dickleson, F.O. W. Keywan and F.O. J. E. Kirk. A number of the boys received their first airplane rides and thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

A cigarette or match, tossed out of a car window, may mean lost lives, lost timber, lost jobs—also a lost war effort.

Foss Boulton A Prisoner-Of-War And Wounded

The months of suspense by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boulton regarding the whereabouts of their son Foss, missing after air operations on May 13, 1943, came to an end early Wednesday morning when they received a wire from Ottawa. It read: "J. H. Boulton:

Advised from International Red Cross quoting German information states your son Squadron Leader Foss Henry Boulton, DFC, is a prisoner of war but unfortunately wounded. Letter follows.

RCAC Casualty Officer." When news of his safety became known throughout town on Wednesday morning it appeared as if a heavy load had been lifted from the minds of many of the townspeople who had feared for his safety. They now congratulate the happy parents on their son's safety, even though it may mean months in a German prison camp. The suspense of not knowing where he was or what had happened is now ended.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE FUND

Figures issued to the press by the Unemployment Insurance Commission indicate that the balance remaining in the Unemployment Insurance Fund on June 30 this year stood at $131,836,907.16. ATTENTION IS DIRECTED TO THE BALKANS AS A POSSIBLE GROUND FOR ALLIED ATTACK

LONDON.—The general belief here is that surrender of Italy would draw 27 divisions out of the Balkans and leave the Axis satellites there militarily and politically limp. It might persuade the Germans to abandon southeastern Europe.

In spite of this, it appears the Allies might find some strategic advantages in the western Mediterranean.

Two outer bastions of France's southern coast—Sardinia, 200 miles from Toulon, and Corsica, 12 miles from Nice—might fall without a fight.

From Corsica and northern Italy, the Allies could exert their full aerial superiority over southern France.

From Italy there are three land routes of attack—through the Alps to France, through the Brenner pass to Germany, and through Venezia to the Balkans. The first two are particularly forbidding, however.

Most significant of all, Germany might be constrained to withdraw some divisions from western France to reinforce the four or five in southern France, thus weakening the forces fronting the Allied armies massing in the British Isles.

The Axis may fall back to the Po river line, from Genoa through Bologna to Ravenna, and attempt to stall the Allies indefinitely from Italy's northern industrial region. There is little doubt here that the German forces on the Po could eventually be tossed out.

Despite the uninviting marshiness of the coast and German concentrations around Marseilles and Toulon, occupied by the Nazis only since last November, it obviously is not fortified or organized as imposingly as the vaunted Atlantic wall. And Gen. Henri Giraud and his 300,000 men who are being re-armed by the Allies take confidently of a return to their homeland—not a roundabout expedition to the Balkans.

Reuters news agency quoted recent reports from France through Switzerland as suggesting the Germans were taking this into account by concentrating their southern French defences around the Lyons rail centre, which would serve as a main depot for the whole area.

Sicily, Sardinia, Corsica and the Italian mainland all could be employed by the Allies as intermediary bases for any such invasion, which also might be timed handily with an attack from the west.

The Evening Standard military correspondent has estimated it would take a pool of 40 ships on constant service to keep 1,000,000 men supplied, and compared this task with the short German overland lines.

The Allied air force could use their bombers to cut down this German advantage sharply.

MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE IN BRITAIN SAYS FOOD SHORTAGE WILL BE ACUTE AFTER THE WAR

LONDON.—R. S. Hudson, Britain's agriculture minister, outlining for the House of Commons Britain's agricultural program for the next four years, cautioned that "the first two years after the war are bound to be a time of great stringency on the food front."

Opening a debate on agriculture, he warned that the world would be faced immediately after the war with an acute shortage of food, transport, fertilizers, machinery, farm implements and gasoline.

"We must anticipate that agriculture will have to remain fully mobilized after the war for a period more likely of years than of weeks or months," he said. "Taking the world as a whole, there seems no doubt that there will be a very considerable lack of livestock products, oils, fats, even bread, grain and rice."

"Our plan for the next four years must be to maintain the present production of food for direct human consumption, at the same time taking steps to ensure the fertility of our soil is not undermined."

He called for an increase in the quantity of livestock and an improvement on their quality.

A CLEAR MAJORITY

Coalition Government In South Africa Had Little Opposition

PRETORIA.—Field Marshal Smuts' Coalition government has a clear majority in the South African general election, it was shown when counting of votes took place.

Early results indicated a landslide in favor of the veteran South African political leader who was pledged to keep the Dominion in the war at the side of the rest of the empire.

Of 56 seats decided by last night, members of the various parties in Smuts' government had won 54 and the anti-war opposition only two. Smuts himself was re-elected in his constituency of Standerton.

WILL CARRY FILM

Canada's First Lancaster Bomber To Be Flown Overseas Shortly

OTTAWA.—The first Lancaster bomber produced in Canada will shortly be flown overseas. And it will carry as part of its cargo a print of "Train Busters," Canada's newest war movie.

Starting Officer D. M. "Bitty" Grant, D.F.C., of Watrous, and Flying Officer J. A. Morton of Didsbury, Alta., the film shows Canadian airmen in action against enemy locomotives.

After its premiere before Royal Canadian Air Force men in England, Canadian release dates will be announced.

RULING CHANGED

No Limit Now On Wheat Gristed For Family Use

OTTAWA.—Effective Aug. 1, start of the new crop year, wheat producers in the prairie provinces may have an unlimited quantity of wheat gristed for family use outside of their established delivery quotas, Trade Minister MacKinnon announced.

At the start of the current crop year farmers were permitted to have 40 bushels gristed, but the wheat was to be taken from the authorized quota. Then on July 6 Mr. MacKinnon announced that farmers could have 100 bushels gristed outside the quota.

THREAT TO PLANES

MONTREAL.—Smoke-filled air above burning forests "is a handicap for aircraft whether on military or civil missions," Air Minister Power said in an appeal for forest fire precautions released here. "The ascertained causes of forest burning plainly show that most of the catastrophes are of human origin," he said.

The Allied air force could use their bombers to cut down this German advantage sharply.

NOW IN GREECE

The Whereabouts Of Field Marshal Rommel Disclosed By Berlin Radio

LONDON.—The German radio said that the "secret surrounding Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's whereabouts has been ended" through the publication in Berlin morning papers of pictures showing the former North African commander arriving in Salonika, Greece.

Greece is at the gateway to the German-held Balkans, largely garrisoned by Italian troops, and an Allied invasion through Salonika in the First Great War led to the defeat of Germany.

A D.N.B. despatch told of Rommel's despatch to Greece which is "threatened by Allied armies in the Middle East. Previous reports had said Rommel was in France or Greece, and one recent rumor said he had been shot down while flying to Sicily after the Allied invasion there.

CANADIAN WHEAT BOARD HAS SET INITIAL WHEAT QUOTAS AT THREE BUSHELS PER ACRE

OTTAWA.—Trade Minister MacKinnon announced that the Canadian wheat board has set initial wheat quotas for the 1943-44 crop year at three bushels per authorized acre, against the initial five-bushel quota for 1942-43.

He said these quotas would apply at stations where there was sufficient space to complete delivery of the final 1942-43 quota of 15 bushels. Mr. MacKinnon said the initial quotas were lower than last year because of the "present congestion" in country elevators, and noted that the government was making arrangements to help elevator companies to undertake advances to farmers against farm-stored wheat deliverable under the 1943-1944 quotas.

Wheat quotas, established several years ago, are to ensure equitable distribution among western Canada farmers of available elevator space. The elevator are filled largely with the grain of past crops and farmers must keep some of their new wheat on their farms until the movement of grain from the elevators to the lakehead relieves congestion.

While the quota for the crop year was five bushels per authorized acre, this figure was increased from time to time as elevator space became available, until the final quota of 15 bushels was reached. The authorized acreage is 65 per cent. of the total number of acres any farmer had under wheat in 1940.

The final total quota for the 1943-44 crop year already has been fixed at 14 bushels per authorized acre.

BACKS WARNING

Russian Government Also Sends Notes To Neutral Countries

LONDON.—The Russian government backed up President Roosevelt in warning neutrals not to give asylum to "Mussolini, prominent Fascists or other war criminals" in notes being presented to Turkey and Sweden.

The Moscow radio, recorded by the Soviet monitor, said that Russian ambassadors in Ankara and Stockholm had been instructed to present the notes which contain the Soviet government's "appeals" to them not to grant asylum to the Axis leaders. The broadcast said Moscow would "consider the granting of such asylum or any help or assistance to the Fascists as a violation of the principles for which the United Nations are fighting and which they are determined to uphold by all means in their power."

The Moscow radio said that a similar note had been sent by Britain to the neutrals.

HIGHEST AWARD

Stretcher Bearer Killed in Tunisia Won Victoria Cross

LONDON.—The first stretcher bearer to win the Victoria Cross in this war is Pte. Eric Anderson, of Bradford, Yorkshire, to whom the award goes posthumously.

He went into no man's land in Tunisia three times under intense fire to rescue wounded men but was mortally wounded himself on the fourth attempt.

This gallant rescue endeavor occurred on April 6 during a dawn attack by the East Yorkshire regiment in the Wadi Akarit region, a short distance north of the Mareth line, as the 8th Army was pushing its way northward into Tunisia.

SHIPPED BY AIR

Trans-Canada Lines Carried Nearly Two Tons Of Blood Plasma

WINNIPEG, Man.—On two flights recently, Trans-Canada air lines carried nearly a ton of blood plasma across Canada. The shipments went under a high priority and since there was not sufficient space in the compartments were carried in the cabins of the aircraft.

Each shipment—one amounting to 990 pounds and the other, 945 pounds—took up the space of six seats.

FARM MACHINERY

Plans Made To Supply Co-operative Outlets In Prairie Provinces

REGINA.—Arrangements with regard to the supplying of tractors and other lines of co-operative machinery to the various co-operative outlets in the three prairie provinces as soon as raw material is available were concluded after a two-day session in the Hotel Saskatchewan of directors of Canadian Co-operative Implements Ltd.

Dealings of the association with the National Farm Machinery Co-operative at Shelbyville, Ind., formed part of the distribution arrangement. National Farm Machinery Co-operative is owned by the regional co-operative associations of Canada and the United States.

CONSIDERING PLAN

Wheat Board May Have Monopoly Of Handling Feed Grain

OTTAWA.—Trade Minister MacKinnon said proposals for granting the Canadian wheat board a monopoly of handling oats and barley to make sure there would be no hold-up of supplies of western feed grain to eastern Canadian farmers are receiving "serious attention" from the cabinet wheat committee but no decision has been reached.

He said the cabinet wheat committee was watching the situation "very closely."

LONDON.—Adolf Hitler's nightmare—and the nightmare of the German Supreme Command since the First Great War—of a two-front war has been brought to the verge of fruition by the fall of Mussolini.

It now is plain that Hitler has been confronted with the greatest military crisis of his intuitive career by the necessity within probably a few weeks or less of taking over full responsibility for defence of the Balkan peninsula, at the same moment that the whole Eastern Front is erupting into battle after battle. Evidence is piling up that the Germans were caught short by Mussolini's ouster. The evidence was provided by the Nazi propaganda machine itself which after hours of silence gave the public only the bare facts of the Italian communications.

Where Hitler is going to get the troops is the big problem. If he pulled 100 divisions from the Eastern Front, there is little question that the front would cave in.

Another possibility is the scrapping together of divisions from the occupied countries, but if an estimated 10 divisions moved from Norway and 30 to 40 from France it would expose their coasts to creation of a third Allied front.

It is noted that the war situation has more and more been taking on the appearance of 1918. Germany's collapse then was heralded by the knockout of Turkey from the war, quickly followed by Bulgaria, Austria and Hungary.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Our Vacation is Over.

An all too brief two weeks have gone fleeting past, our vacation at the Pacific coast is now only a memory, and we are back at the office picking up where we left off and recording the departure of friends about to start their long anticipated vacations.

Vancouver is still booming and will continue to do so while the war lasts. A daily appeal is seen in the papers for skilled and unskilled workers, despite the fact that thousands of new citizens are residing in the city and each day trains bring in more. This condition has given youngsters, who have moved with their parents to the city, an opportunity to gain employment, which they have not missed. We noted former local young girls gainfully employed, and also young boys, who were still in public school here last year, working during the summer vacation.

The price of homes has been boosted upwards. New comers with money are almost forced to buy a home in order to get housing accommodation as it is almost next to impossible to rent a home, and when one is fortunate to do so the heavy rent soon becomes a burden.

Vancouver and its famous Stanley Park still beckon to thousands of vacationists, and the Park is packed daily with bathers, picnickers and patrons of the Theatre Under The Stars, which has concerts each evening.

The Scales Tip Away From Germany.

It was with grim satisfaction that the Allied world saw the bombastic Mussolini fade from the international scene and presumably await trial for his dastardly "stab in the back" of prostrate France, when he thought that Hitler would win world domination in a matter of a few months in 1940. Conditions in Italy are still obscure to the public, and only a few Allied leaders may be aware of what goes on behind the scene. One thing is certain, the few brief days of freedom from the Fascist yoke gave the Italian people and the press the chance to tell the world that they were sick and tired of war and wanted peace. Marshal Badoglio, Mussolini's successor, says "the war continues." What else could he say with a Nazi bayonet in his back? The Italian armies have shown in Sicily that they do not want to fight. In Greece, in the Balkans and in France they are reported to be slowly withdrawing towards Italy.

Hitler, already hard pressed in Russia and the Mediterranean, must spread his own armies more thinly than ever over occupied Europe as he attempts to hold southern France, a line across northern Italy, and most, if not all of the Balkans in order to maintain the strategic integrity of the basic German system. Germany is now almost as completely on the defensive as the Allies were in 1914 and 1942, and she has no visible means of improving her prospects. So long as Britain, Russia and America maintain their present rate of progress, Germany faces a contracting military future with sure defeat at the end. The scales are beginning to tip noticeably away from Germany.

The Coal Shortage.

The coal shortage facing Canada today has assumed alarming proportions, and in fact has been declared to be a national emergency by the federal government. Abnormal demands for coal caused by shortages of fuel oil, wood, natural gas and other fuels, have brought about a widening gap between consumption and production which can be met, in the main, only by the most rigid conservation measures. As Canadians, we have been most profligate in the use of coal—profligate to the extent that in the average home nearly 50 per cent of the coal we burn is wasted. Lack of insulation, storm windows, weather stripping, inefficient heating systems and faulty firing methods are chief contributors to this enormous waste.

Last year Canada used 37½ million tons of bituminous coal. Slightly less than half of that was produced in Canada. In order to keep pace with her expanding industry, Canada will need more than 4 million tons over last year's figure. With the U.S. industries constantly expanding, it is a gamble whether she will be able to export to Canada the same amount as she did last year, therefore Canada is thrown back on her own resources. Measures have been taken to augment the number of miners now in the mines and upon their broad shoulders and the shoulders of the management depends whether Canada can meet the fuel crisis this winter.

It should be pointed out that rationing and income taxes bear on all sections of the population: there is no discrimination against workers in coal mines or elsewhere.

Coleman Maintains Fine War Record.

Official figures were released this week by the Coleman War Finance Committee revealing that once again local citizens had supported a war campaign to raise money in their usual magnificent manner. Given a quota of $360, or 4 depth charges, in the July "Stamp Out The U-Boat" campaign, the citizens purchased $1,299 in war stamps, thus more than tripling their quota. We can't recall one instance where Coleman has failed to exceed its quota, whether it be in war loans or war charities. It's a record of which we may all feel proud.

WEDDINGS

ADAMS—EASTON
St. Paul's United church was the scene of a charming wedding at 5 p.m. Saturday, July 31, when Lorraine Katherine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Easton, became the bride of Sgt. James S. Adams, RCAF, based at No. 2 FIS, Pearce, only son of Mr. and Mrs. East W. Adams, of Calgary.

The bride, charming in a floor length gown of frosted white embossed organza, fashioned with a bask bodice, sweetheart neck line and long light fitting sleeves finished with lily points, wearing a veil made in Mary Queen of Scots style and carrying a Colonial bouquet of Sweetheart roses, forget-me-nots and Valley Lily, entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mr. J. Emmerson.

Miss Irma McLeod, as bridesmaid, was beautiful in a floor length gown of Heaven Blue embroidered organza, wearing a silver Sequin Juliet cap and carrying a bouquet of pink roses, carnations and fern.

James Fisher, of Bellevue, attended the groom.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with gladioli, peonies and bride's bouquet and white satin streamers. The ushers were Wm. Lonsbury and Jack Price.

The bride was given away by her father and the Rev. W. H. Irwin, of Bellevue, performed the double ring ceremony. During the signing of the register, Miss Freda Antrobus sang very beautifully the solo, "Because."

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where covers were laid for 50 guests. They were received by the bride couple and the parents of the bride and groom. Mrs. Easton wore a becoming emerald ensemble in dusty rose shade, with large picture hat and corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Adams, mother of the groom, chose powder blue with accessories to match and wore a corsage of tea roses.

The bride's table was attractively arranged with a hand embroidered linen cloth, the hand work of the bride's mother, and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake set in a bed of tulle and flanked by crystal candle sticks and tall cathedral tapers. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. William Lonsbury and responded to by the groom. As there were four generations of the bride's father's family and four generations of the bride's mother's family represented at the wedding, Mr. Joe Emmerson proposed a toast to the Easton and Lonsbury families. Mr. Alex. Easton proposed a toast to the King.

Mrs. Douglas Taylor, of Calgary, and Mrs. Gladys Thompson assisted in serving the guests.

The home of the bride was beautifully decorated with large silver wedding bells, pink and white streamers and cut flowers.

For travelling the bride wore a printed linen suit in nutmeg brown shade, with accessories to match and a tea rose corsage. The groom's gift to the bride was an engraved locket and to the bridesmaid a gold pendant. The bride couple left by car to spend their honeymoon at Calgary and Banff.

Numerous cables and telegrams were received, including a cable from Mr. Sydney Morrison, cousin of the bride, serving overseas; best wishes from Major R. M. Quigly, RCAF, uncle of the groom, serving overseas; telegrams from Mr. Chelton Easton, of Vancouver, brother of the bride, and from Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Tyndale, of Calgary.

Out of town guests included Mrs. S. Tolman, sister of the bride, of Queen Charlotte Islands, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Easton, Mrs. Quigly, Miss V. B. Quigly, Miss McLeod, Mrs. H. Pratt, Mrs. Douglas Taylor and Miss Kay Morrison, all of Calgary; Mrs. C. R. Easton and Mrs. R. M. Quigly and daughter Pat, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Graham, of Fernie; Mr. R. McFarlane, of Airside; Mr. and Mrs. E. Fisher and Mr. James Fisher, of Bellevue; Mrs. E. Welsh, of Hillcrest; Petty Officer E. Hutton, of Calgary; Sgt. A. Smith, RCAF, of Penhold; PO A. M. Paul, RCAF, and Sgt. C. Bird, RCAF, of Pearce; Mr. G. Simon, of Trochu, and numerous personnel of the Pearce air school.

D'ANGELO—BIRARDA

Holy Ghost church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, July 14, when Graciella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Birarda, of Coleman, became the bride of Guido, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. D'Angelo, of Michel, B.C. Rev. Father L. Sullivan officiated.

The bride, entering the church on the arm of her father, looked charming in a gown of white embroidered sheer, with floor length veil and carrying a bouquet of mixed roses.

Her bridesmaids were the Misses Annie Kullig, Lena D'Angelo and Milie Spivack, who wore gowns of blue with contrasting head veils and carrying bouquets of carnations. Attending the groom were Messrs. E. D'Angelo, Nino Birarda and Frank Girihny.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Centering the main table was a three tiered wedding cake, a gift of Mrs. G. Lant.

The happy young couple left for a honeymoon at Calgary and other Alberta points and upon their return will reside at Natal, B.C.

DUTFIELD—ANDERSON

The marriage took place at Vancouver on Thursday, July 29, of Mr. Arthur Dutfeld, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dutfeld, and Miss "Babe" Anderson, of Manitoba.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Lorraine Easton, bride-elect, was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Lonsbury on Friday, July 23. Hostesses were Mrs. Lonsbury, Mrs. Jack Price and Miss Irma McLeod.

Approximately 30 guests were present and took part in the evening's festivities. Whist winners were Miss Thetia Ash and Miss Lorraine Easton. Bridge winners were Mrs. Wm. Mozell and Mrs. Adam Wilson. Following a dainty luncheon the guest-of-honor was presented with many useful and beautiful gifts, for which she thanked her friends assembled.

Approximately forty friends gathered at a shower in the L.O.O. F. hall on Monday evening, July 26, in honor of Miss Katie Zallo, bride-elect. The evening was spent playing cards, winners being Mrs. R. Vincent, and Emily Mik-novich.

Selective Service Regulations As Applying to Teachers

"The general intention of Selective Service Regulations as applying to teachers," according to Mr. J. F. Lote, manager of the local Employment and Selective Service Office, "is to retain teachers at their profession during the school year, and to make the best possible use of their services during vacation."

Mr. Lote said that there might be some misunderstanding among teachers as to their status under Selective Service Civilian Regulations. He explained this status in this way:

By Order in Council of June 17, 1943, teachers were brought under Selective Service; previously they have been exempt in so far as employment at their profession is concerned. Now a teacher or must continue at the teaching profession during the school year, and can only leave to take other full time employment, except in the agricultural industry, under permit from Selective Service. It is not the intention to authorize teachers to leave the profession, where their services as teachers are needed. Teachers may still join the armed forces without permit, or they may engage in part time employment during the school year, so long as it does not interfere with their teaching hours. During vacations teachers are encouraged to take other high priority work, but generally speaking and apart from employment in agriculture teachers must secure Selective Service permits before entering employment. Teachers will not require permits to engage at work in their own profession.

The new regulation defines a teacher as any person who teaches or instructs in a school, college or university not carried on for gain.

We Must Maintain The Pace!

Canadians, Americans and Britons are maintaining a fast pace as they cut through Axis defences in Sicily. The next day or two may see the entire Island in Allied hands.

Much Allied equipment has been burned out as we seek to gain the Sicilian island as a stepping stone to the Italian mainland. We must replace that equipment quickly.

Only by the regular purchase of War Stamps and Certificates can we do so. During July we purchased $1299 in war stamps. Let's maintain and even step up that pace.

Follows Father as C.P.R. Vice-President

Eric A. Leslie (left), newly appointed vice-president and comptroller of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, is carrying on a family tradition in that high position for his father, John Leslie (right), was vice-president and comptroller of the company from 1926 until 1928 at which time he became vice-president of finance and treasurer, a position he retained until 1932 when he retired after more than half a century of railway work. The new vice-president and comptroller is 48 years old and has been associated with the company for 30 years. His record was broken by attendance at McGill University on a Canadian Pacific scholarship and three years overseas service in the Great War as a lieutenant with the Canadian Artillery. He won two medals as a student—the Governor General's Silver Medal at Montreal High School and the British Association Medal in transportation at McGill University where he graduated from the Faculty of Applied Science.

THE C.P.R.'S PROGRESS

Montreal, July 7.—Statements recently made in the house of commons at Ottawa disclose the fact that the past few years has been a good client of the Dominion government insofar as the latter has gone into the business of lending money to assist vital industries in performance of services absolutely essential to the carrying on of the nation's business.

Between the years 1931 and 1941, the Government advanced loans to the Company for various purposes, as follows:

During the summer of 1936 it was necessary to find work for unemployed men in many parts of Canada. To aid in this purpose the Government advanced to the Company a total of $554,700. This loan was fully repaid by installments between January, 1938, and January, 1942. Over the period the Company paid to the Government interest at 2½ per cent, totalling $47,567.42.

Between September, 1935, and March, 1936, the Government lent to the Company a total of $1,270,000 to finance the betterment and repairing of railway equipment. Those were days when the depression had seriously reduced the Company's available funds for this work. The loan was fully repaid between January, 1938, and January, 1942. No interest was paid on this loan for the first two years, but later interest payments at 4 per cent were made to a total of $170,854.79.

During the period 1935-38 the Government purchased railway equipment to a total value of $5,730,000. This was sold to the Canadian Pacific under a hire-purchase agreement and the entire amount was repaid to the Government by January, 1943. This loan was interest free for two years. After that period the Company paid interest at 3 per cent, a total of $610,978.61.

A similar arrangement was made for the purchase of equipment over a period including the years 1939 and 1941. The Government lent the Company a total of $9,951,489.64 at 3½ per cent interest. This was fully repaid by December, 1942, with interest thereon amounting to $844,990.53. Over the period until these loans were fully repaid therefore, the Canadian Pacific made a total interest payment of $1,674,391.35.

The only other outstanding loans which the Company owes the Government are two which were made for the purpose of helping to keep the country's workmen employed between November, 1931, and January, 1933. The depression was then at its full height and it was necessary that something be done to check the growing unemployment. Large industrial concerns were approached with this end in view and the Canadian Pacific agreed to assist by going on with work that otherwise would have been left to more prosperous times when the Company's funds were better able to take care of it. For this purpose the Government advanced to the Company in 1931 a total of $1,447,221, repayable on demand without interest when the Company resumes dividends at a rate of more than 5 per cent per annum. In 1932 and 1933 the Government advanced another million dollars, repayable on demand without interest before the Company pays any dividend on its common stock.

Theatre Notes

A really entertaining film comes to the Palace screen this week end, when the ever-refreshing film and skating star Sonja Henie appears in "Ice Land." She again is seen in many of her dazzling skating acts and is co-starred with that sterling actor, John Payne. Also starred is Sammy "Swing and Sway" Kaye and his orchestra with several popular tunes, also Jack Oakie. In addition there is the up-to-the-minute news reels showing the various war theatres.

At Cole's theatre this week and the two leading comedians of the screen, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, as two loose screws in the wheels of the law, as they have a corpse on their hands, killers on their trail and cops in every corner.

At the Orpheum, Blairmore, this week end the new star, Alan Ladd, appears in his first starring role in "Lucky Jordan," with Helen Walker as the leading lady. It is a story dealing with crime and mob rule.

FAST SERVICE ON NEWS REELS

Few may realize it locally, but the Palace theatre is getting news reels of world happenings almost as fast as the larger cities. We were made aware of this fact last Thursday evening when we sat through the show. The news reel showing the landing of the Allied troops on Sicily was the same as shown a few days previously at one of the first run theatres at Vancouver which we had attended.

SOLDIER of the SOIL

THIS year the Canadian Farmer urgently needs help. He needs your help to produce the food so necessary for victory. Many thousands of farm workers are serving in the Forces, so that the farmer—the Soldier of the Soil—is short-handed, but short-handed as he is, he is called upon to produce more food than ever before. Food is one of the most powerful weapons of war. Grains, bacon, dairy products, eggs, beef, fruit, vegetables—FOOD to feed our armies, our allies and our people we must have.

WHAT CAN YOU DO?

You may be a school teacher, student, business or professional man, an office or store clerk—no matter what you are, if you have a few hours, days, weeks, or months of free time this summer, you can do your country and the farmer a great and patriotic service by helping out on the farm. You may be inexperienced, but you still can help. You will find work on the farm healthy and congenial. It will give you the satisfaction of feeling that you have brought Victory nearer.

What you should do NOW!

Consult any special local committee or office established to deal with farm labour placements in your city or town; or Write the Director of the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labour Program at the Capital of your province; or Get in touch with your nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

TO A POST OFFICE INKWELL

How many humble hearts have dipped
In you, and scrawled their manuscript!
Have shared their secrets, told their cares,
Their curious and quaint affairs!
Your pool of ink, your scratchy pen,
Have moved the lives of unborn men,
And watched young people, breathing hard,
Put Heaven on a postal card.

For The War Effort

Recent Reduction In Freight Rates Aids Salvage Collection In West
The reduced less-than-carload freight rates for shipment of war salvage materials in the four Western Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia which came into effect recently, will be welcomed by western Voluntary Salvage committees and should result in increased deliveries of necessary raw materials to Canadian war industries.

Salvage of all kinds is a vital cog in Canada's war equipment wheel. National Salvage Headquarters in Ottawa recently set out a "Salvage Priority List" which should be followed by all patriotic Canadians who are cleaning up the scrap in their own homes and seeing to it that it reaches the local voluntary scrap depot.

First in importance at the present time is the collection of fats and bones. As many Canadians know this is a war-duration drive, which will help produce vital glycerine for explosives and other materials for war industries. Canada needs 35,000,000 pounds of rendered fats a year from households, hotels, restaurants and other establishments. The objective actually represents only about one ounce of fats per Canadian per week.

Ten thousand tons of old tires and tubes are urgently required by the end of the year.

Scrap metals of all kinds are needed, particularly the non-ferrous types, brass, bronze, and copper.

Rags for use in industrial plants to clean off machinery or to wrap delicate parts of munitions, or as wipers for the engines of planes used to train members of the Royal Canadian Air Force are on the "must" list. In this connection, cotton rags are the most important to salvage.

The salvage listed above is not the only type which should be collected, however. Any and every article has some use today, so get it out into the fight!

CITY OF RAGUSA

An oddity about the captured city of Ragusa is that its name is associated with one of Napoleon's marshals—Marmont. Napoleon made Marmont Duke of Ragusa. Later, when Napoleon made his last stand at Paris, Marmont made a secret convention with the enemy and withdrew his force of 20,000 men from its assigned position, making the name synonymous with betrayal for generations of Frenchmen.

How To Get A Raise

The Newspaper Worker Who Unconsciously Helped Himself
One morning when Sam Bennett was serving as acting city editor on a New York newspaper, a dispatch came in saying that Charles Schwab had just been made president of the Steel Trust at a salary of a million dollars a year. Bennett reduced the item to a single paragraph and stuck it on an inside page.

When the editor came down and discovered the item he nearly exploded. "Bennett," he shouted, "why didn't you spread this all over the front page?" Don't you know that a young man getting a salary of a million dollars a year is a great story?

"Boss," replied Bennett, a little wearily, "after a salary gets over forty dollars a week I just don't know what to say about it." That week Bennett got a raise.—Christian Science Monitor.

Loss Of Bombers Compared To The Immense Damage They Cause

Bombing is an outstanding visible activity (how constantly we forget the invisible, indispensable activity of the Royal Navy), and Dr. Goebbels has been comforting his countrymen with the assurance that our admitted losses are such that the raids cannot be maintained long on the present scale.

That would not be of much consequence if it were not that the question were not being sometimes asked here whether we can afford losses of 44 a night. On that it may be observed that 44 a night is a maximum. The total loss of bombers in raids on Germany in June was less than 200. That, of course, is not negligible. It means something in money, and over 2,000 brave and highly-trained men; but by no means all the men are casualties; many are unhurt and prisoners of war.

How trifling is such payment for the immense damage inflicted when compared, for example, with the slaughter of the Somme, which began on July 1, 1916, and resulted in the capture of a strip of territory 30 miles long and seven deep (other ultimate consequences must not doubt be taken into account) at the cost of 410,000 British casualties.

How do losses of aircraft compare with the supply? It is being very conservative to assume an output from the factories of Britain, the United States and Canada alone of 6,000 a month, or twenty times our present losses. When all allowance is made for the fact that only a proportion of these are heavy bombers, that there are losses in Germany and in other theatres than Germany and losses from accident everywhere, and that much of the output must go to Russia and China and the Pacific theatre, it will be seen that the day when losses will restrict activity against Germany is far from even beginning to look like dawning.—London Spectator.

Lady Surprised Mrs. Roosevelt When She Gave Her Name

When Mrs. Roosevelt was over in England, she also visited Ireland. After she had spoken somewhere, an elderly lady came up to shake hands. "I hope your sons who are serving," said the lady, "will all come home safely."

"Have you any relatives in the war," asked Mrs. Roosevelt.

"Yes," was the answer. "I have a son who is a soldier in the Middle East."

"May I ask your name?" said Mrs. Roosevelt as a gesture of courtesy.

"Montgomery," was the reply.

It was Lady Montgomery, the mother of the Eighth Army's commander.—Financial Post.

PATTERN FOR DISASTER

CHAPTER XII.

THE elevator, built for power instead of speed, moved slowly from floor to floor. When they reached the fourth floor, Morgan fingered the bunched keys before he pushed Rosita to leave the elevator. "Use this key, and do not delay. It will open Guillermo's door, and we want to get into his room before he suspects who we are and has time to give any warning."

The girl nodded and stepped from the elevator. Still grippng the bound and gagged Rojas, Morgan followed Rosita the short distance to Guillermo's room. The girl slid the key into the lock soundlessly, and turned key and knob in an almost noiseless motion. Morgan stepped past the girl to push open the door and be first in the room. The room of Don Felix was lighted by a shaded reading lamp. The surprise of the musician was complete. Seated in a comfortable chair near the lamp, he did not look up from his book until Rosita was closing the door, and by that time, Chris Morgan was well within the room.

"Don't move, Senor Guillermo, and be quiet," said Morgan, leveling his pistol at the man in the chair. The musician sank back obediently into his chair. "You appear unduly excited, Morgan," he commented coldly. "May I ask why you have invaded my room in this high-handed manner?"

Morgan led Captain Rojas to a chair and bade his prisoner be seated. Morgan's eyes, by this time, had noted that Don Felix's quarters were in the condition he had hoped for. The telephone, the desk, the racked violin—the furnishings had been unchanged since his previous visit. "WELL, HAVE you come to take you away, Don Felix," said the American. "You have made it too hot for me in Argentina, and I've got to skip out. But before I go, I intend to smash this little spy ring of yours."

"Yes," Guillermo's composure remained unruffled. "What proof have you, Morgan, that I have indulged in the activities you mention?"

"I have no proof but I know, and you know that I am a desperate man, Guillermo. If I get rid of you I will have accomplished my mission—smashed this pattern for disaster which you had hoped for. The senorita and I came here to make you a prisoner. Unfortunately, Captain Rojas ran into us and we had to bring him along. Captain Rojas and Tio Pancho have gone for an automobile. They will be here in about half an hour and then you are going for a little ride with me."

Guillermo folded his hands in his lap. "You do not intend to kill me, Senor Morgan?" he asked. "Unless you admit that things I know you have done," Morgan replied. "I shall have to get rid of both you and Captain Rojas."

"I have nothing to confess," said Guillermo.

Would the bluff work? Had Morgan guessed wrong? In the silence that descended on the room, Guillermo remained relaxed in his chair for such a length of time that Morgan began to feel that the nervous musician would not react to the threat of death as Morgan had anticipated.

Finally Don Felix stirred his long legs and yawned. "This waiting becomes tiresome, senor," he complained. "Must we all here like mourners at a funeral?" If you were not here I would be playing on my beloved violin. It would relieve the monotony, senor. And Captain Rojas—he likes music."

"Very well," Morgan yielded. Go ahead and play."

Guillermo stepped to the wall and lifted the violin from its support. He faced the room, leaned against an edge of the desk and rested the base of the instrument against his shoulder.

"What would you like to hear, Senor Morgan?"

"How about Humoresque," suggested Morgan. "Since things are going my way that would just about fit in with my mood."

THE bow ran lightly over the strings. Don Felix paused, and his slim hand shifted down the neck of the violin to the tuning pegs. "One moment, senor," he apologized. "I will adjust the strings."

Morgan nodded. Don Felix turned a peg, played a chord experimentally, shook his head, and adjusted the strings once more. To Morgan, the violin sounded all right, but Guillermo continued to frown and moved his fingers from peg to peg.

Then the musician's face brightened. "I have it, at last! Now I shall play for you, Senor Morgan, something you will never forget!"

The poised bow dipped suddenly, producing the opening strains of Humoresque. The gay, lilting music filled the room. There was no doubt that Felix Guillermo was a master of his craft. A pity, Morgan thought, that such talent should be in the hands of one so unworthy. Don Felix ended with an over flourish. "You like it, Morgan?" he smiled.

"Shall I play something else for you?"

"No," said Morgan. "That will be enough, I think."

Guillermo restored the violin to the rack and returned to his chair. "The time must be half past nine," he murmured. "Velasquez and Tio Pancho should be here soon."

"They may have some difficulty locating a car," said Morgan. "If they are a bit late, Guillermo, do not let—"

A KNOCK on the door interrupted him. Don Felix grinned. "Your friends have arrived, senor. Shall I admit them?" He raised his voice. "Caution, De Nova! Morgan has a gun!"

The door crashed open and men surged into the room—De Nova, Verde, and a half dozen policemen, all with guns in their hands. It was the manager, De Nova, who covered Morgan and tore the pistol from the American's grasp. Morgan did not resist, but watched passively as Rojas was taken into charge and the gag and ropes removed from Capt. Rojas.

"Thank you, Senor De Nova," grunted Rojas. "You came just in time to save us from a man who must be detained."

"Wasn't his arrival strangely opportune, Captain?" Morgan inquired mildly. "Doesn't it strike you as peculiar that De Nova, the man who once pulled Guillermo's chestnuts out of the fire, should be the one to come to my rescue now?"

De Nova laughed. "A servant heard loud voices in this room and reported to me. Our hopes were not loud, countered Morgan. "And do you, Senor De Nova, call the police on such slight provocation?" Rojas, Don Felix informed De Nova of his presence in this room in the same manner that he told De Nova to follow Diaz and shoot him if necessary.

Verde, his right cheek a mass of tape and gauze, echoed De Nova's laughter, but a little more uncertainly. The man is mad, Captain, you say."

"Wait!" Rojas' eyes narrowed. "Can you prove this, Morgan?"

"I can," Morgan nodded. But when he tried to move, De Nova jammed the pistol harder against his ribs. "Stand still, Morgan!" rapped the manager. "Captain, this man should be taken to jail before he attempts any more tricks."

But the police were in the majority in the room. Rojas stepped forward, pushed the manager aside, and disarmed him. "Go ahead, Morgan," the captain said briefly. "Let's get to the bottom of this thing. I'll convert the truth about Tio Pancho into a story for the papers."

All eyes watched as Morgan approached Guillermo's violin. But in Senor Morgan's hands, the instrument was not a violin, but a drum. Morgan caught the rack itself and with a heave that scattered plaster over the floor, tore the entire structure from the wall. The violin fell, leaving Morgan holding the rack frame.

"YOU see, Captain?" said Morgan, touching a thin wire that ran from the rack into the broken plaster of the wall. "A device which you will undoubtedly find in De Nova's office. The weight of the violin disconnected the circuit, but when the violin was lifted, a switch in this room would be recorded on the machine below."

"But . . . this will prove only that Colonel Velasquez told De Nova you were here. After all, you threatened him, and he had the right to summon the authorities. This does not free you from the murder charges."

Morgan smiled. "Remember O Sole Mio, Captain, that Guillermo played for you?" A certain message preceded that also. . . instructions to De Nova to find Diaz, the fingerprint man, and take whatever steps necessary to conceal the truth about Colonel Velasquez' death. O Sole Mio is a short piece, and De Nova was in a great hurry when he heard it; he had no time to remove the record. It is possible that O Sole Mio and Humoresque are both on the one cylinder for you to hear."

"Dios mio! With a hoarse shout, De Nova whirled and plunged toward the door. But Morgan, who had been watching the manager out of the corner of his eye, sprang also and hooked his foot about the ankle of the fleeing man, causing De Nova to tumble full length upon the floor. Two policemen pounced upon the sprawled manager and hauled him to his feet.

"What, was your hurry, De Nova?" inquired Morgan. "Did you want to smash that record before we had the proof that you were told to kill Diaz?"

"I—I—the manager stammered, his face pallid. "Don Felix is as much to blame as I—and Verde—he stabbed Colonel Velasquez."

"Keep quiet, you idiot!" snarled Guillermo. But the damage had been done.

HALF an hour later, Chris Morgan found Rosita, Velasquez waiting for him. "Guillermo's whole setup has been exposed. It was De Nova who passed on Don Felix's information to certain individuals who dropped in for a bit to eat, a cigar or some trifle. We found the dictaphone and the record; a wire from De Nova's office noted a piece of moulding on the desk whenever the dictaphone was used—thus informing De Nova that a message was being sent to his headquarters."

"And Esteban—and Tio?"

"Both De Nova and Verde have confessed, telling all they know about Guillermo. Captain Rojas is at a phone now, ordering that Esteban and Pancho be freed immediately. Shall we go to meet them?"

"We shall wait here for them, Senor Chris." Her face was radiant. "I am so anxious to see my brother that I do not want to miss him on the way."

Morgan seated himself beside the girl. "Step number two," he remarked, as if speaking to himself.

"Step," she repeated. "Yes," he nodded and grinned. "At first I was Senor Morgan to you. You have just called me Senor Chris, which means we have progressed another step toward—a better friendship. The third step will be when you call me Chris."

"Chris," she smiled. He smiled in return, seeing in her eyes what she read in his—the knowledge and the hope that in time a fourth and final step would be achieved.

Meat Roll-Up

Bread makes a wonderful meat extender and has many uses other than stuffing. The individual meat roll-up pictured above uses bread to make a very little left over meat or fresh hamburger go a very long way.

The recipe is one that has been tested in the Consumer Section of the Department of Agriculture.

Meat Roll-Up

(1 coupon—6 servings)

- 1 step to 1
- 2 step, chopped onion
- 1 lb. hamburger
- 2 step, chili sauce or ketchup
- Salt, pepper and seasonings to taste

Reheated gravy or canned tomatoes to moisten

Loaf fresh bread

Saute onion in melted fat—add hamburger and cook, stirring well with a fork to keep meat separate. Add other ingredients, using just enough gravy or canned tomatoes to make the mixture easy to spread.

Roll 6 thin slices lengthwise from the loaf of fresh bread; trim ends. Spread each slice with meat mixture and roll. Brush rolls with melted dripping. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., until golden brown and crisp—about 20 minutes.

Serve with gravy or tomato juice. Left over cooked meat may be used instead of hamburger, omitting fat and mixing meat and other ingredients without cooking.

Youth Organizations

The Mobilization of The Youthful Population Will Help in Peacetime For some time now, Britain's youth has been mobilized for war, and for the Peace that follows. At the beginning of the war, the Old Country was faced with a youthful population whose work had to be directed into the proper channels. Fathers were absent in the Armed Forces, and mothers were working in the munitions factories. Neither could properly look after their children.

Faced with this problem Britain, therefore, set up a Committee known as the National Youth Committee. Its object was to look into the welfare of all the young people who were between the ages of fourteen and eighteen.

The first step taken was to set up Youth Committee branches in every locality.

In the proposals for the Youth Committees it was suggested that the boys and girls should not be interfered with, or pushed, or directed, in the accepted "school" manner. Although the branches were to start up new activities and train leaders, the young people were to be given an opportunity to act for themselves.

In the southern country of Suffolk, an organization arose which was known as the Youth Service Corps. This organization was begun, and its activities directed by the boys and girls themselves. They helped the farmers to weed their gardens and with the harvest; they gardened in the towns for their neighbors, delivered parcels for shop owners whose delivery boys had been called up, collected salvage materials of all kinds and did a hundred and one other odd jobs. They even minded babies.

This service caught the imagination of the boys and girls and spread like wildfire. Within a few months there were service squads, following the general pattern of the original Suffolk Youth Service Corps in every county.

This concerted work of Britain's youth has proved a boon particularly to the nation's farmers. In the harvest time this work has partially filled the gaps in farming. In other activities the boys and girls have done equally well. They have collected over 120 million dollars in war savings in their School War Savings Groups.

No new youth organizations have been created in Canada during war time but the old national societies, such as the Girl Guides, Boy Scouts, Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. are each doing fine work and helping in the picture of total war. Organizations such as the Junior Red Cross, St. John Ambulance Association and others are concentrating almost one hundred per cent upon war efforts.

The Canadian Government is considering developing a similar scheme as the Youth Service Corps in England and recently a meeting was held in Ottawa chaired by Major-General L. R. LaFleche of the National War Services department to discuss harnessing the effort of youth between the ages of 11 and 18.

The Youth Services department of the Wartime Information Board is currently making a survey of the activities indulged in by Canadian youth and leaders of youth groups across the Dominion are reporting their activities to this department.

A Glorious Race

People of Greece Have Fought On Against Terrible Odds

Beverly Baxter, in Maclean's, says: Greece! The story of a glorious race of people fainting in the streets, holding on to life though their hearts are so weak with hunger that the blood can hardly be pumped into their impoverished veins. When Italy had sent them an ultimatum France was prostrate and Britain stood alone against the powers of darkness. Yet Greece, steeped in the glory of her ancient history, said, "We shall fight."

And when Italy was thrashed almost to a standstill Germany too sent an ultimatum and Greece said, "We fight on while one Greek can hold a sword."

Our own story is glorious enough but what tribute can words pay to a little nation which had no chance of victory but could only take the arrows into its breast.

Raising Ships Likely to Become Larger Post-War Activity

The Normandie is shortly to be righted after more than a year on its side in New York's North River. In the Fifth of Forth, the British have lately completed a job of salvage on another ship which in its day was the largest afloat—the naval training craft, Caledonia, formerly the Majestic, of the Cunard-White Star fleet.

The account of its salvage is typical of stories, now not used or relegated to back pages to make room for tidings from the battle front, which in better times would command the fascinated attention of the world. The Majestic, a 56,600-ton ship went down several years ago in deep water after an outbreak of fire. Ordinarily it is a cargo which attracts the salvagers, but in this case it was 40,000 tons of precious steel needed for the war. The work was put in charge of Capt. C. G. Bonner, holder of the Victoria Cross for heroism in the Q-boat war on submarines in 17. Eighteen hundred tons, as well as hull openings, had to be sealed by divers before the great ship was pumped dry. This done, she was raised at the first attempt.

In the past, jewels and bullion and even ivory have been the lure. It may be that mining the sea and river bottoms for metal in the shape of sunken hulls will become a larger postwar activity. The Russians in the one year of 1936 raised 53 vessels among them a British ship, sunk off Kronstadt in 1919. With improved salvage methods and an abundance of victims of the present wars to be worked on, an enterprise essentially romantic even in its quest for proaic steel may become a business.—Detroit News.

Don't Always Stumble For THE RIGHT WORD

Often you hear expressions "run like a horse," "as fast as a deer," "strong as a moose," "white as snow," and you realize how they add to the effectiveness of the person's speech.

Perhaps subconsciously these people cultivate their speech, but it is more likely that they have tried consciously to improve themselves and made their conversation more interesting.

It is not difficult to develop bright phrases. Instead of saying just plainly "straight," you might say "straight as an arrow"—it seems so much more vivid and explicit.

Learn how to combine adverbs and verb phrases such as "laugh uproariously" or "laugh silently." These help make your speech effectively do striking adjective-noun phrases, for example, "considerable ability" or "startling ability."

All these and many other examples are included in our 32-page booklet, which shows you how words can be combined into phrases which are appropriate and effective.

Using the right phrases lend force and color to both speech and writing and helps you get ahead both socially and in business. Learn to express yourself.
